

The presenter at the microphone has heard something about copyright regulations, but thinks it would be alright to just read this one very good story on the radio...